Hollywood, FL -- With the 2010 introduction of Pride Family Brands' Vienna Collection, the artistry of hand woven aluminum, a signature look for the manufacturer, has been elevated to new heights. The woven aluminum elements are not only a major part of the decorative styling of this line; but the oversized rolled seating back is crafted completely of woven aluminum connecting cast supports. Throughout additional introductory collections, the depth of woven aluminum craftsmanship is evident in the creation of award-winning looks for Pride.

"With the combination of aluminum intricately woven and the hand painted finishes, our furniture brings a sense of artistry to any outdoor room," said Jamie Lowsky, CEO of Pride Family Brands, manufacturers of aluminum casual furniture. "We pioneered the woven aluminum concept and are finding that applications are endless for this craftsmanship within our products." The weather resistant nature of the aluminum with the powder coat finishing provides a wicker-like look, with added strength and greater outdoor life built in.

At the recent International Casual Furniture and Accessories Market, one of Pride's collections, the Sophia, featured woven aluminum and was the recipient of a Design Excellence Award.
